Leaders Of Premier Ky Party Are Defends Viet Nam Draft Briefed

WASHINGTON (AP) - President Johnson, who won an eight day postponement of the steel strike threat Monday night, kept up the pressure for a settlement today in his weekly meeting with Democratic congressional

The party chiefs from the Capitol came out of the breakfast session reporting that the steel situation came in for extensive discussion, and urging that the negotiators stay in session as long as necessary to reach agreement.

They made their remarks to newsmen shortly after representatives of the AFL-CIO United Steelworkers union and 10 major firms that produce 80 per cent of America's steel had gone back to the bargaining table near from the White House.

"Management and labor should stay in Washington until this matter is settled," said Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana.

And, echoing sentiments stated by House Speaker John Mc-Cormack, Mansfield expressed hope that steel mills will remain in operation even if a settlement is not reached before the expiration of the eight-day grace period.

Both at home and abroad, Mansfield said, "there is too much at stake which the country will have to pay for if there is one" - a strike.

"They (negotiations) will continue, hopefully, until a settle-ment is reached," said White House press secretary Bill D.

Less than eight hours after the negotiations were shifted Monday from Pittsburgh to Washington at Johnson's request, agreement was reached to postpone the strike deadline from 12:01 a.m. Wednesday to 12:01 a.m. Sept. 9

Must Apply For Grazing

BENTON -- Farmers who wish to graze on harvest hay on diverted land must file an application in the Scott county Agricultural Stabilization Conservation office, Manager Tom

Marshall said today. "A member of the county committee or one of their representatives will visit your farm and determine the value of the grazing or haying," explained.

He reminded farmers that they cannot use this acreage until application has been filed and approved by the county committee.

The secretary of agruiculture recently authorized grazing and haying of land diverted under the soil bank, wheat and feed grain programs, subject to approval by the county ASC committee. This is a drought relief measure.

CAIRO, Ill. AP -- The Fire Department of Cairo, Il., faced a crisis today as firemen refused to take orders from the Fire Chief.

The ultimatum was sent to Mayor Tom Beadles Monday by Local 1516 of the International Firefighters Association.

Local President Lewis Edwards said the union represented 13 of the 16-man department, excluding Chief Bill Brooks, but the other three men would honor the union's demand.

The statement, which went into effect Monday, listed no spe-cific incidents, but said the action was taken because of "intolerable working conditions under Chief Brooks." The statement said firemen would continue to perform their usual duties, and would take orders from other department officials other than Brooks. Fire Commissioner Herman Hirsch was baffled. Refusal to obey the chief, he said, might constitute insubordination grounds for dismissal.

However, he indicated the problem will probably be left with the Board of Police and Fire Commissioners.

POOR CHARLIE SAYS!

Tuesday, August 31 Virginia C., of New York, begins to have doubts about Santa.

TAFT-HARTLEY: BIG CASINO

Short of unforeseen developments, steel workers began banking furnaces late Saturday or early Sunday. The interim contract agreement of last May expires at midnight Tuesday (Aug. 31).

BIG CASINO in the labor-management game is the Taft-Hartley Act of 1947. The Johnson administration so far has avoided any direct stand on invoking Taft-Hartley, which is only proper. But the President on Aug. 25 said: "I expect full and complete responsibility in the current wage negotiations and I expect continued stability in steel prices."

Federal mediator William Simpkin met with both sides in the steel dispute for the first time on Aug. 26. Optimism in Pittsburgh for a settlement without a strike dwindled after the United Steelworkers of America on Aug. 25 turned down the major companies' final contract

TAFT-HARTLEY'S most significant contribution to labor law was its creation of machinery for handling labor disputes which, in the President's opinion, would "imperil the national health or safety" if allowed "to occur or to continue." The President was empowered to name boards of inquiry to investigate, but not to propose terms for settlement. After the board reports, the President may direct the Attorney General to petition a federal district court to enjoin an actual or threatened strike or lockout.

If no voluntary agreement is reached within 60 days after issuance of an injunction, the board of inquiry must report the current position of the parties with a statement of the employer's "last offer of settlement." The National Labor Relations Board is then required, within 15 days, to take a secret ballot of the employees on the final offer. The NLRB must certify the results within five days. The last offer regularly is voted down.

Once these steps have been taken, and the 80day cooling off period has expired, the government's powers of intervention are exhausted. The strike becomes legal. It is the President's duty, when the injunction has been dismissed, to submit a full report to Capitol Hill with such recommendations as he may wish to make.

The emergency provisions of Taft-Hartley have been invoked sparingly. They have been resorted to only 24 times since 1947. The last board of investigation was created in the Atlantic and Gulf Coast maritime dispute in September 1963. In fix cases — all involving deak or maritime disputes -- the workers have gone out on strike upon expiration of an 80-day injunction. Easier settlement was achieved in all of the remaining cases. In four of the 24 a prompt settlement made it unnecessary to seek an injunction.

THE PUBLIC INTEREST definitely would suffer if a protracted strike were to occur in an industry which provides jobs, directly or indirectly, for more than 6 million Americans. The basic steel industry produces more than three-fourths of all the metal used in the nation, has sales of around $15 billion a year, and directly employs 570,000 workers in more than 300 communities in 37 states.

Since the end of World War II the United Steelworkers of America has called six national work stoppages. The strike that made believers out of both labor and management was the 116day monster of 1959.

Steel magazine on Aug. 9 predicted either last minute agreement or a short, two-to four-week strike. "Most labor observers were convinced," the magazine said, that anything approaching the 1959 disaster would not be tolerated by an administration bearing the LBJ brand.

As a union member, I feel that governmental sanction by law of the union officials' dictatorial power over my means of earning a living is an unAmerican restriction upon my freedom. The right to be a union member is basic--the right not to be is equally so.

A. B. GIBSON Member, United Steelworkers of America (AFL-CIO) Gary, Indiana

The danger that all Americans have feared would occur if the Monroe Doctrine was violated has arrived.

Fidel Castro's Cuba is not and probably won't be a military threat to the United States. Sen. J. W. Fulbright, chairman of the Senate foreign affairs committee, has minimized Castro's importance militarily. We wish that in the same breath he had told the country what a threat Cuba was to the rest of the hemisphere in terms of subversion. That is where the real danger lies and it is why the American people should never have permitted the Castro regime in Cuba.

The state department four months ago found it necessary to inform a congressional committee of increased Communist activity in Latin America is "very much with us."

"Difficult and dangerous days lie ahead," the department warned.

Since then the Associated Press has reported a buildup in Communist bombing, killings, kidnapings, riots, demonstrations and subversion.

Castro's Cuba is highly dangerous to the security of the United States. There is no use kidding ourselves.

This country cannot co-exist in peace with the bearded dictator.

The car radio is being used in a test program to warn drivers of road hazards. On a section of the Kentucky Turnpike, pre-taped messages are broadcast over car radios to warn of special hazards. The radio is being used as a supplement to the usual highway signs and to call attention to special problems. If the test works out, it may be adopted elsewhere.

The confusion about time will be resumed this fall.

It was bad enough in the spring. Some Bootheel communities went on it. Some did not. Some who did gave it up.

Practices of adjoining states added to the confusion. Southern Illinois communities went on it. Kentucky communities, notably Paducah,

There was plenty of confusion in Missouri and in the Bootheel.

St. Louis has been on fast time. Kansas City

The new confusion will result from communnities, which have been on fast time, going off at different dates.

Under the circumstances it is difficult to determine just what local time system is followed at any time from spring to winter. People miss appointments or they are an hour early. Farmers are angry.

There is a simple solution.

The nation should stay on regular time. Employes of industrial plants, stores and offices, which want fast time, can accomodate themselves by starting to work an hour early and quitting an hour early. In this way everybody would be pleased and work at the time they wish.

Will it work?

No. The country has gone too far toward adopting fast time during the summer. Granting that this is true the best solution is to convert the hodgepodge to uniformity. There must be a universal starting and stopping time. This can be accomplished in only one way.

The federal government must seize the initiative to eliminate chaos. Time should be established by an act of Congress. There is no place in this situation for either state rights or local preferences.

ON BOTTLED COCKTAILS

Liquor industry sources report bottled cocktails are carving out a bigger share of the market with every passing month. Not only do such products save time, but the pre-bottled martinis, whichy sours, old fashioned, manhattans, tequila margaritas, mint juleps and Singapore slings are "goof-proof" as well. The trouble with conformity, however, is that while it prevents the sub-standard it also eliminates the sublime. No matter. More Americans than ever are choosing convenience over creativity. The Wall Street Journal discloses (Aug. 9) that the industry sold 7.2 million to 7.8 million bottles of mixed drinks last year, nearly double the sales five vears earlier. Distillers are invading neighborhood taverns, moreover, to see if they might have overlooked anything. Arthur F. Murphy, executive vice president of Calvert Distillers Co., says (the N. Y. Herald Tribune Aug. 18): "Right now our agents are examining the vogue for such novelties as the Cold Duck, the White Tiger and the Mary Jane."

The end has been sounded for those purists who take their whisky on-the-rocks or with a splash of civilized branch water. Next to go will be those mixologists who prefer to brew up their own posion. America's do-it-yourself kick clearly has run its course. How can a wife expect her husband to fix a leaky faucet when the man of the house won't even bestir himself to mix a mean martini?

The Missouri General Assembly enacted some notable additions to the state speed law during the last session. The revised law establishes a maximum speed of 60 miles per hour at all times for trucks registered for over 9,000 pounds on all highways. It also calls for a minimum speed of 40 miles per hour for all vehicles on the interstate highways. The newly enacted

Missouri speed law gives the Highway Commission the authority to raise and mark the speed limit on certain highways in the state to 70 miles per hour during the day and 65 at additions to the present law will become effective in October of this year.

Under the new law, speed limits for passenger vehicles and small trucks will be the same as required in the present Missouri speed law with the above exception. On federal divided highways the speed limit is 70 miles per hour day or night. There is a maximum speed of 70 miles per hour on federal undivided highways during the day and a speed limit of 65 at night. All other roads and highways have a maximum speed limit of 65 during daylight hours and 60 miles per hour at night. The speed limits for buses remain the same under the new law with a 65 miles per hour maximum at day and 60 at night.

Colonel Hugh H. Waggoner, Superintendent of the Missouri Highway Patrol, said, "While these are the maximum speeds permitted, the law requires prudent speeds at all times consistent with driving conditions. Traffic, road and weather conditions set common sense speed limits that must be adhered to at all times for safety in traffic." The Patrol Superintendent also called attention to the fact that the speed law states that no person shall drive a motor vehicle at such a slow speed as to impede or block the normal and reasonable movement of speed is necessary for safe operation or in compliance with

It is still celebrated by us and by others, and honored as it should be honored, the proof being the enduring popularity of the American "Western" all over the world. The great, unsettled frontier on earth is gone now and can never reappear as it used to be, within the foreseeable future. But the fact remains that many of the best qualities in the American spirit were molded by the frontier and we would be immeasurably poorer if those qualities were allowed to fade from present reality into musty memory and then into oblivion.

The frontier spirit does not necessarily require an actual geographical frontier zone to keep it alive. The frontier spirit is one of daring, of unorthodoxy, of a willingness to reach out into new and unexplored regions and prevail by the vigor and skill of the unfettered individual. The same qualities that brought the ioneers victorious from Atlantic to Pacific could bring Americans today to undreamedof heights of achievement in the f nature the a

Washington Merry-Go-Round

- By Drew Pearson -

WASHINGTON .- Frayed congressmen are straggling back to Washington this week to a session which has done an amazingly good job for the country.

But on the list of unfinished business is one item which gets to the roots of what caused this nation's independence in the first place - the right to vote and taxation without representation. The principle is embodied in the Home Rule bill for the district of Columbia which for the first time in one hundred years would give the residents of the nation's capital the right to vote.

By Friday of this week the deadline to pass Home Rule or stymie it will be reached. After Friday it will be too late to get the 218 discharge signatures necessary to force the House District Committee to release the bill for a vote by the full House. The bill has already passed the Senate, so this is the crucial week.

Meanwhile several grade-A congressmen who should be in the vanguard of the right-tovote movement have hung back. One is Ron Cameron, the Califormia Democrat who defeated the John Birchites. Another is the Dean of California Democrats, Cecil King; also Harlan Hagen of Hanford, Calif.

In Connecticut, a state in the vanguard of the American Revolution, three Democrats in 1965 are not standing up for the same principles of 1776-Giamo, Bernard Grabowski, and John Monagan. The first two come from Balian and Polish ancestors who knew something about the struggle for the right to vote. SONS OF IRELAND

In Pennsylvania, a new Democrat, Joseph Vigorito, also comes from ancestors who understood the benefits of newfound freedom in this country. Nevertheless he has not stepped up to sign on the line for voting rights for others.

In New York, only three Democrats have failed to sign on the line to help others get the right to vote - Jim Delaney and Gene Keogh of Brooklyn, with Otis Pike of Long Island. The ancestors of the first two came to the United States from Ireland because they did not have the right to vote. But as of this week their descendants have not championed the right to vote for the people of the nation's Capital.

On the other hand, Charles Farnsley, ex-Mayor of Louisville, Ky., has been one of the few brave southerners who have signed the discharge petition. He knews from his own experience that cities are better cities when they govern them-

And from Massachusetts, the state which saw the Boston Tea Party stage the first American protest against taxation without representation, Rep. Silvio Conte, a Republican, rose on the floor of the House to make an impassioned speech for D. C. Home Rule.

TAFT-HARTLEY: BIG CASINO

Short of unforeseen developments, steel workers began banking furnaces late Saturday or early Sunday. The interim contract agreement of last May expires at midnight Tuesday (Aug. 31).

BIG CASINO in the labor-management game is the Taft-Hartley Act of 1947. The Johnson administration so far has avoided any direct stand on invoking Taft-Hartley, which is only proper. But the President on Aug. 25 said: "I expect full and complete responsibility in the current wage negotiations and I expect continued stability in steel prices."

Federal mediator William Simpkin met with both sides in the steel dispute for the first time on Aug. 26. Optimism in Pittsburgh for a settlement without a strike dwindled after the United Steelworkers of America on Aug. 25 turned down the major companies' final contract

TAFT-HARTLEY'S most significant contribution to labor law was its creation of machinery for handling labor disputes which, in the President's opinion, would "imperil the national health or safety" if allowed "to occur or to continue." The President was empowered to name boards of inquiry to investigate, but not to propose terms for settlement. After the board reports, the President may direct the Attorney General to petition a federal district court to enjoin an actual or threatened strike or lockout.

If no voluntary agreement is reached within 60 days after issuance of an injunction, the board of inquiry must report the current position of the parties with a statement of the employer's "last offer of settlement." The National Labor Relations Board is then required, within 15 days, to take a secret ballot of the employees on the final offer. The NLRB must certify the results within five days. The last offer regularly is voted down.

Once these steps have been taken, and the 80day cooling off period has expired, the government's powers of intervention are exhausted. The strike becomes legal. It is the President's duty, when the injunction has been dismissed, to submit a full report to Capitol Hill with such recommendations as he may wish to make.

The emergency provisions of Taft-Hartley have been invoked sparingly. They have been resorted to only 24 times since 1947. The last board of investigation was created in the Atlantic and Gulf Coast maritime dispute in September 1963. In fix cases - all involving deak or maritime disputes -- the workers have gone out on strike upon expiration of an 80-day injunction. Easier settlement was achieved in all of the remaining cases. In four of the 24 a prompt settlement made it unnecessary to seek an injunction.

THE PUBLIC INTEREST definitely would suffer if a protracted strike were to occur in an industry which provides jobs, directly or indirectly, for more than 6 million Americans. The basic steel industry produces more than three-fourths of all the metal used in the nation, has sales of around $15 billion a year, and directly employs 570,000 workers in more than 300 communities in 37 states.

Since the end of World War II the United Steelworkers of America has called six national work stoppages. The strike that made believers out of both labor and management was the 116day monster of 1959.

Steel magazine on Aug. 9 predicted either last minute agreement or a short, two-to four-week strike. "Most labor observers were convinced," the magazine said, that anything approaching the 1959 disaster would not be tolerated by an administration bearing the LBJ brand.

As a union member, I feel that governmental sanction by law of the union officials' dictatorial power over my means of earning a living is an unAmerican restriction upon my freedom. The right to be a union member is basic--the right not to be is equally so.

The danger that all Americans have feared would occur if the Monroe Doctrine was violated has arrived.

Fidel Castro's Cuba is not and probably won't be a military threat to the United States. Sen. J. W. Fulbright, chairman of the Senate foreign affairs committee, has minimized Castro's importance militarily.

We wish that in the same breath he had told the country what a threat Cuba was to the rest of the hemisphere in terms of subversion. That is where the real danger lies and it is why the American people should never have permitted the Castro regime in Cuba. The state department four months ago found it necessary to inform a congressional committee of increased Communist activity in Latin Amer-

Since then the Associated Press has reported a buildup in Communist bombing, killings, kidnapings, riots, demonstrations and subversion. Four countries have borne the brunt of the attacks but they are spreading throughout Latin

Castro's Cuba is highly dangerous to the security of the United States. There is no use kidding ourselves.

This country cannot co-exist in peace with the bearded dictator.

The car radio is being used in a test program to warn drivers of road hazards. On a section of the Kentucky Turnpike, pre-taped messages are broadcast over car radios to warn of special hazards. The radio is being used as a supplement to the usual highway signs and to call attention to special problems. If the test works out, it may be adopted elsewhere.

The confusion about time will be resumed

It was bad enough in the spring. Some Bootheel communities went on it. Some did not. Some who did gave it up.

Practices of adjoining states added to the confusion. Southern Illinois communities went on it. Kentucky communities, notably Paducah,

There was plenty of confusion in Missouri and in the Bootheel.

St. Louis has been on fast time. Kansas City

The new confusion will result from communnities, which have been on fast time, going off at different dates.

Under the circumstances it is difficult to determine just what local time system is followed at any time from spring to winter. People miss appointments or they are an hour early. Farmers are angry.

There is a simple solution.

The nation should stay on regular time. Employes of industrial plants, stores and offices, which want fast time, can accomodate themselves by starting to work an hour early and quitting an hour early. In this way everybody would be pleased and work at the time they wish.

Will it work? No. The country has gone too far toward adopting fast time during the summer. Granting that this is true the best solution is to convert the hodgepodge to uniformity. There must be a universal starting and stopping time. This can be accomplished in only one way.

The federal government must seize the initiative to eliminate chaos. Time should be established by an act of Congress. There is no place in this situation for either state rights or local preferences.

ON BOTTLED COCKTAILS

Liquor industry sources report bottled cocktails are carving out a bigger share of the market with every passing month. Not only do such products save time, but the pre-bottled martinis, whicky sours, old fashioned, manhattans, tequila margaritas, mint juleps and Singapore slings are "goof-proof" as well. The trouble with conformity, however, is that while it prevents the sub-standard it also eliminates the sublime. No matter. More Americans than ever are choosing convenience over creativity. The Wall Street Journal discloses (Aug. 9) that the industry sold 7.2 million to 7.8 million bottles of mixed drinks last year, nearly double the sales five years earlier. Distillers are invading neighborhood taverns, moreover, to see if they might have overlooked anything. Arthur F. Murphy, executive vice president of Calvert Distillers Co., says (the N. Y. Herald Tribune Aug. 18): "Right now our agents are examining the vogue for such novelties as the Cold Duck, the White Tiger and the Mary Jane."

The end has been sounded for those purists who take their whisky on-the-rocks or with a splash of civilized branch water. Next to go will be those mixologists who prefer to brew up their own posion. America's do-it-yourself kick clearly has run its course. How can a wife expect her husband to fix a leaky faucet when the man of the house won't even bestir himself to mix a mean martini?

North Dakota is the only state that prohibits the use of parking meters. There are more_ than two million meters in use in 4,000 communities across the country.

THE FRONTIER SPIRIT The story of the American frontier and its conquest by individual, enterprising Americans is in many ways the greatest epic in the history of the world. It is still celebrated by us and by others, and honored as it should be honored, the proof being the enduring popularity of the American "Western" all over the world.

The great, unsettled frontier on earth is gone now and can never reappear as it used to within the foreseeable future. ANN LANDERS

Answers Your Problems

Dear Ann Landers: My husband and I were at the ball game the other night and in the middle of the fifth inning a loud voice from behind bellowed "Well, if it isn't Dirty-Neck Swanson." I wanted to fall straight through the bleachers. My husband turned around and there was a fellow he hadn't seen since grammar school in Springfield. The man and his wife moved to this city just a few months ago. They'd been meaning to look us up. We have run into them twice since the ball game and it's always "Hello Dirty-Neck." This upsets me no end. In my opinion, "Dirty-Neck" is not an appropriate greeting for a grown man who is an attorney and a member of the school board.

My husband says he doesn't mind it .. in fact he thinks it's funny. You know how nicknames catch on. I'm afraid

A FEW OBSERVATIONS ON THE MEANING OF THE EIGHTH AMENDMENT ally may attempt to deter and

Continued -- Nor Cruel And Unusual Punishments Inflicted. We cannot but consider the statute before us as of the same category. In this Court counsel for the State recognized that narcotic addiction is an illness. Indeed, it is apparently an illness which may be contracted, innocently or involuntarily. We hold that a State law which imprisons a person thus afflicted as a criminal even though he has never touched any narcotic drug within the State or been guilty of any irregular behavior there, inflicts a cruel and unusual punishment in violation of the Fourteenth Amendment. To be sure, imprisonment for ninety days is not, in the abstract, a punishment which is either cruel or unusual. But the question cannot be considered in the abstract. Even one day in prison would be cruel and unusual punishment for the "crime" of having a common

Mr. Justice Clark, however, in his dissent, declared: The majority acknowledges, as it must, that a State can punish persons who purchase, possess or use narcotics. Although none of these acts are harmful to society in themselves, the State constitution-

loudmouth might start this something. Any suggestions? LIVID LIVIA

Dear Liv: If it bothers you (and I can see your point) tell the Springfight Flash to knock it off. In dealing with insensitive clods the direct approach is the only way. Dear Ann Landers: I am incensed by the advice you gave the young widow with the 9-year-old son. She said the boy was full of conversation at the dinner table and her fatherin-law made the boy be quiet because he didn't approve of talking at the table. You said kids SHOULD talk at the table and suggested that the mother and son eat first and let the old man eat alone if he wanted silence. The trouble with kids today is they are all mouth. They run everything and everybody. They tell adults where to head in. They hit teachers and have no respect for authority. If a grandfather wants to discipline a boy by saying, "Shut up and eat. That's what you're at the table for," he should do it. -OLD FASHIONED FATHER

Dear Old Fashioned: Sorry, Dad, but I don't call "Shut up and eat" discipline. It's more like a dictatorship -- and in my book this is no way to raise prevent them through punishment because of the grave threat · of future harmful conduct which they pose. Narcotics addiction - including the incipient, violational addition to which this provision speaks - is no different. California courts have taken judicial notice that the "inordinate use of a narcotic drug tends to create an irresistible craving and forms a habit for its continued use until one becomes an addict and he respects no convention or obligation and will lie, steal, or use any other base means to gratify his passion for the drug, being lost to all consideration of duty or social position." People v. Jaurequi, 142 Cal. App. 2d 555, 561, 298 P. 2d 896, 900 (1956). Can this Court deny the legislative and judicial judgment of California that incipient, violitional narcotic addiction poses a threat of serious crime similar to the threat inherent in the purchase or possession of narcotics? And if such a threat is inherent in addition can this Court say that California is powerless to deter it by punishment?

Dinner time should be family time. And family time means conversation involving all members of the family -- small fry included.

Dear Ann Landers: Two years ago I became engaged to a sweet girl. I've changed the date twice because frankly Pm scared. As the time gets closer I have the feeling I just can't go through with it. Maggie is a wonderful person but the fire is out, if you know what I mean. Ever since I gave her a ring it's like I got a dead battery.

think I'm in love with her sister. Gert is three years younger than Maggie and I didn't meet her until after we were engaged. The minute I looked at Gert I knew I had the wrong one. A few weeks ago I jokingly asked Gert for a date. She told me to go soak my head in a rainbarrel. Please give me the straight word like you do everybody else. - EENIE MEENIE Dear Eenie: Now is a fine time to decide you've got a dead battery. Break up with Maggie at once. It would be unfair to marry her feeling as you do. Date others and don't

To make matters worse, I

AUTOMOBILE CLUB OPENS SCHOOL SAFETY CAMPAIGN

The Automobile Club of Missouri is launching its 33rd annual September School Opening Safety Campaign by reminding motorists that "School's Open-Drive Carefully.'

Auto Club Safety Director Stan Keesling pointed out that more children than ever before will be making the trek back to the blackboard and books, and that many of them will be attending school for the first time - unaware of the hazards of crossing congested intersections, streets and highways. "After a summer of fun and play, children sometimes forget to exercise that extra degree of caution when going to and from school," Mr. Keesling said, "it's up to the individual motorist to watch for the school-bound youngsters."

In emphasizing the need for all drivers to be "child alert" this fall, especially in the vicinity of schools and playgrounds, the Auto Club will post 14,000 posters and distribute 25,000 bumper strips throughout its territory. Mr. Keesling urged all drivers to cooperate with members of the School Safety Patrol in protecting their classmates and pointed out the need for increased safety consciousness on the part of motorists in areas where there are no School Safety Patrols or other means of protection provided to safeguard the school children.

Help make this September the safest back-to-school month ever. Remember, "School's Open - Drive NOW RENTING

THE CITY OF SIKESTON, MISSOURI Resolution

resolution declaring the necessity for the construction of one and one-half inch hotmix asphaltic pavement on six inch soil cement base on Indiana Street from Norval Street to Reuben in accordance with plans and specifications in the City of Sikeston, Missouri; stating the nature of the improvement; the estimated cost and providing that payment for all of the improvement shall be made by special tax bills levied and assessed against the abutting property. Be it resolved by the Council of the City of Sikeston, State of Missouri, as follows: Section 1: That the Council of the City of Sikeston, Missouri, deems and declares the construction of said Street necessary to the welfare and improvement of the City of Sikeston, Section 2: That the nature and scope of the improvement shall consist of furnishing all cost, including labor, materials and transportation necessary for the complete construction of the improvement. Section 3: That the estimated cost of the improvement is $2.60 per lineal foot of abutting property, to be charged against the lots and tracts of land abutting the improvement. Section 4: That payment for all of the improvement shall be made by special tax bills evidencing special assessments against the abutting property in the manner specified by the statutes of the State of Missouri and the ordinances of the City of Sikeston, Missouri, because in the opinion of the City Council the General Revenue fund of the City of Sikeston is not in a condition to warrant an expenditure therefrom to pay for the improvement. Section 5: That any work performed on construction of the improvement shall be in compliance with the provisions of the prevailing wage laws of the State of Missouri, such prevailing wage rates having been established by the Industrial Commission of Missouri. Section 6: That the City Clerk is hereby authorized and directed to furnish a copy of this Resolution to a daily newspaper of general circulation in the City of Sikeston, so that it shall be published for

A FEW OBSERVATIONS ON THE MEANING OF THE EIGHTH AMENDMENT

Unusual Punishments Inflicted. We cannot but consider the statute before us as of the same category. In this Court counsel for the State recognized that narcotic addiction is an illness. Indeed, it is apparently an illness which may be contracted, innocently or involuntarily. We hold that a State law which imprisons a person thus afflicted as a criminal even though he has never touched any narcotic drug within the State or been guilty of any irregular behavior there, inflicts a cruel and unusual punishment in violation of the Fourteenth Amendment. To be sure, imprisonment for ninety days is not, in the abstract, a punishment which is either cruel or unusual. But the question cannot be considered in the abstract. You said kids SHOULD talk at the table and suggested that the mother and son eat first and let the old man eat alone if he wanted

The trouble with kids today is they are all mouth. They run everything and everybody. They tell adults where to head in. They hit teachers and have no respect for authority. Auto Club Safety Director Stan Keesling pointed out that more children than ever before will be making the trek back to the blackboard and books, and that many of them will be attending school for the first time - unaware of the hazards of crossing congested intersections, streets and highways. "After a summer of fun and play, children sometimes forget to exercise that extra degree of caution ers to cooperate with members of the School Safety Patrol in protecting their classmates and pointed out the need for increased safety consciousness on the part of motorists in areas where there are no School Safety Patrols or other means of protection provided to safeguard the school children.

Col. Hugh Waggoner of the State Highway Patrol has expressed grave concern over the pending Labor Day weekend in Missouri and has canceled all vacations and leaves by state troopers.

And, further, Waggoner indicates that he has been asked to supply a number of patrolmen for the Rockaway Beach area near Branson to ward off any possible reoccurrence of the rioting which numbed the resort earlier this summer.

By stationing patrolmen at the resort, Waggoner said, this will reduce the number of troopers he has available for highway

During the 1964 Labor Day holiday, 18 persons died in traffic accidents in Missouri and the number is expected to show a substantial increase this year. although the fatality rate during the past few weeks has shown

Through the last week of August, the number of persons killed on Missouri roadways had risen to 835 compared to 823 during the same period a year ago. However, as of the first of July fatalities were running more than 50 ahead of last year. This has been reduced to just 32 and Waggoner attributes the decline to safety promotion programs.

These programs currently are stressing proper signalling while passing and turning plus the continued assault against the drinking driver. The latter, incidentally, accounts for some 40 per cent of the accidents recorded in Missouri.

The 1965 legislature treated the Highway Patrol pretty well this time, Waggoner noted, indicating that 40 new recruits will begin training in October. These recruits are part of the 145 new troopers authorized by the legislature and will bring the patrol's strength up to 650. Waggoner, who originally had sought an additional 100 troopers from the legislature but was turned down, said he would seek this same number at the legislative session set for

January 1966. One of the bills passed by the where the prosecutors are

However, the superintendent said the planes will be sent into the Springfield region as soon as the law takes effect, October 13. 1951. From time to time, the Highway Patrol is highly criticized for having no Negroes on its staff, but the allegations apparently have little effect with Waggoner, who says if a qualified Negro applies, he'll be accepted. But, few Negroes even bother to apply for the position and as far back as the administration of the late Gov. James T. Blair a Negro qualified and when offered a position, turned $12 MILLION MADE

IN TAX REFUNDS The Income Tax Division of the Department of Revenue reports it has made nearly $12 million in income tax returns so far this year with nearly all returns having been processed Smith Funeral Home. except those being kept for Funeral services will be conauditing

This $12 million includes some $65,000 paid to 50,000 persons for their 1963 returns who didn't get the money last year because not enough was ap- tor of the Assembly of God propriated by the legislature to nandle it.

These 50,000 taxpayers due a Kirksville for graveside servrefund from the previous year ices at 4 on Wednesday afterreceived an average of $1,24 noon. Burial will be in Maple in interest for the delay.

The number of returns processed this year for Missouri income tax reached an all-time Nursery Will high of 1,400,000 for an increase of 100,000 over 1964, officials in the division report. PARK ATTENDANCE

RISING SHARPLY With the tourist trade each year becoming more and more important to Missouri's blossoming economy, the state Park Board is making a strenuous effort to keep pace with the requirements of the tourist

The board has now on its staff a graduate landscape architect is busy working out modernization plans for the various parks, paying particular attention to improving sanitary conditions.

During the 1966 tourist season. 29 new bath facilities are expected to be ready, plus vital improvements in the park system's water and sewage facilities. At Table Rock, a private concern reportedly is seeking federal area redevelopment funds to provide a new million-dollar resort on land leased from the state. One official indicated that if current plans are approved this will mark the first time for such an arrangement among state, federal and private resources.

Last year a total of 9,492,448 tourists visited Missouri's numerous state parks and the number this year is running well ahead of that and may reach the 9,750,000 mark before the end of the year.

HIGHWAY PATROL CONCERNED OVER LABOR DAY WEEK-END

Col. Hugh Waggoner of the State Highway Patrol has expressed grave concern over the pending Labor Day weekend in Missouri and has canceled all vacations and leaves by state troopers.

And, further, Waggoner indicates that he has been asked to supply a number of patrolmen for the Rockaway Beach area near Branson to ward off any possible reoccurrence of the rioting which numbed the resort earlier this summer. By stationing patrolmen at the resort, Waggoner said, this will reduce the number of troopers he has available for highway

During the 1964 Labor Day holiday, 18 persons died in traffic accidents in Missouri and the number is expected to show a substantial increase this year. although the fatality rate during the past few weeks has shown a decline.

Through the last week of August, the number of persons killed on Missouri roadways had risen to 835 compared to 823 during the same period a year ago. However, as of the first of July fatalities were running more than 50 ahead of last year. This has been reduced to just 32 and Waggoner attributes the decline to safety promotion programs.

These programs currently are stressing proper signalling while passing and turning plus the continued assault against the drinking driver. The latter, incidentally, accounts for some 40 per cent of the accidents recorded in Missouri.

The 1965 legislature treated the Highway Patrol pretty well this time, Waggoner noted, indicating that 40 new recruits will begin training in October. These recruits are part of the 145 new troopers authorized by the legislature and will bring the patrol's strength up to 650.

Waggoner, who originally had sought an additional 100 troopers from the legislature but was turned down, said he would seek this same number at the legislative session set for January 1966.

One of the bills passed by the legislature which is expected to aid the patrol in enforcement activities around the state is the authorization to use airplanes and helicopters. Waggoner noted the patrol is already where the prosecutors are kept away because of adverse reaction.

However, the superintendent the Springfield region as soon as the law takes effect, October 13. 1951.
